Wednesday Challenge Form

•Group Members: Jason, Christian, Tyler and Armen

•Problem Statement: Design a handout for the robotics team to give away at the Robot Con. You had to make it cool, 50 cents, creative, and sort of relate to the game.

•Approach: The picture to the left is the winning toy. My group designed a little teck deck with two wheels. In hind sight it was a terrible idea because it had nothing to do with the game theme. The presentation was the funniest part because it was by far the weakest overall. We had no idea about what the toy was going to do.

•Solution: We designed a little teck deck that only had two wheels. I didn't turn out so well. We got roasted by the judges.

•Lessons Learned: Make sure to completely understand the prompt.
